I received the item promptly and in good condition. The estimated delivery date April 10-16, it was at my front door on Sat morning 11 April. I definitely would do business with the seller again. This compares very favorably to the D&D boxed sets; the '81 Moldavy magenta box, the '83 Mentzer red box, the '04 Tweet Basic Game box & the '06 Decker Basic Game box and the 2014 D&D Starter set. There is great value for the MSRP of $35. Included is a laminated rewritable double-sided 27"X30" play mat which is marked in 1" squares, a complete 7 piece set of polyhedral dice, a 64 page Player Guide, 96 page GM Guide, a 16 page Transition Guide to convert from the Beginner rules to the full Pathfinder RPG rules, 4 double sized single fold pre-generated player character sheets, 4 blank character sheets, 87 pre-scored monster & player pawns with 16 1" & 2 2" stands that are the same scale as the other Pathfinder pawn, paper mini, WizKid Pathfinder Battles miniatures, Reaper Pathfinder miniatures sets. All of the above items are in full color. Paizo also hosts 7 free PDF downloads on the Pathfinder website paizo.com/pathfinderRPG/products/beginnerbox that includes more blank character sheets, 4 pre-generated player characters, an additional adventure, more character options, 4 mini-adventures, and an organized play Pathfinder Society Character Creation Guide. Paizo also hosts the full Pathfinder RPG rule set on paizo.com/pathfinderRPG/prd/ which is legally mirrored on the Pathfinder SRD site d20pfsrd.com. For a retail buy-in of $35 this is an amazing value and that's not even considering compatible adventures that others make freely available on other websites.

My boyfriend and I are experienced Pathfinders, but we didn't have any of the physical necessities to play. (The only time my boyfriend GM'd was online.) The least I can say about this $26.96 beginner box is that it comes with a map which would have cost us $13.99 alone (http://www.paizo.com/Paizo-Publishing-Pathfinder-Flip-Mat-Basic/dp/1601255381/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&qid=1429777359&sr=8-1&keywords=pathfinder+map.) You may find it more useful to have the non-beginner box map because the beginner box map is blank on one side, but a dungeon on the other instead of blank on both. This box came with 90 pawns. The pawns are really wonderful. There is certainly enough of them to last for a long time. You can get about 300 CREATURE pawns for $32.72. (http://www.paizo.com/Paizo-Publishing-Pathfinder-Pawns-Bestiary/dp/1601255616/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&qid=1429777665&sr=8-1&keywords=bestiary+box.) Let's say that means that 90 pawns are worth $9.82. The thing is, you wouldn't have all the pawns you need if you just bought a bestiary pack. The beginner box is worth its price alone because it comes with a well-rounded VARIETY of pawns. There are dozens of pawns that make for good Player Characters, as well as many standard, useful beasts and humonoids. Certainly cheaper than investing in miniature figures! The cardboard the pawns are made from are sturdy and good quality. The artwork on them is also wonderful. The module is very light. It's a tunnel that forces the party to push through different encounters. I can see how this is playable for even people who have never played before... so well done, but not up to snuff for a full 32-page module. And, hey, it has a set of polyhedral dice. They're basic, but you could say that's worth at least $3.
