First of all , I am familiar with Steven Farmer's work so I was interested in this deck. I plan to use it with my grand-daughter who is 6 almost 7 years old and loves animals. We spend lots of time in nature and doing things that incorporate the theme of spirit in nature. These cards will be a great complement for our "nature and animals" exploration. I would have gone with 5 stars except that I was a little disappointed that there weren't more animals included. I know you can't cover everything in one shot but some basic companion animals , local to us, are missing. I will use other information to fill in the gap. Quality of the cards and interpretation for the young set is 5 star quality.

I gave these to my 12 year old granddaughter to help her during her parent's court battles over custody. She used the cards to help her stay focused on each day and not get drawn into their emotional stuff. She said they really helped her. She loves animals and they were able to help her make a connection to her inner self.

Every single day, my 5 yr old son wants to pick his card for the day. It's very cute that he gets so excited over it and actually listens to me read what the book says about it AND follows what it says too. We have a discussion about it as well. They are geared more for children a bit older than he is BUT we will still be using them at that time as well. I am also very impressed with these cards as they are very sturdy and the box they come in is excellent for storage - better than most boxes you get with any other cards I have ordered before such as Tarot cards, etc. I also ordered the Earth Magic Oracle cards by Dr. Steven Farmer for myself and they are in a very nice box as well. I would highly recommend both sets of cards for anyone who is looking for themselves and their family. My son likes for me to pick a card from his deck too - it's a nice bonding time with the two of us for sure!! A+++++

I have had Steven Farmer's animal cards for years and absolutely love them. When he came out with a child's version I had to get them for both my own children and students. These cards are so beautifully illustrated with lovely messages. They are fantastic to spark conversations, help children problem solve, and build relationships with the beautiful animals around us. We use them daily as a way to either start the day on a positive note while looking for ways we see these messages in our lives or as a closing to the day to reflect on how this message related to our interactions or experiences. There are endless uses for these beautiful cards. These are just perfect for children in both illustration, messages, and text in the guide book. I highly encourage you to get these if you are contemplating it.

Each card has a beautiful animal illustration and excellent message. These cards are very positive and inspiring for children and adults as well. Let your child pick and card and then have a discussion about what it means and how they can apply it to their day.

My daughter loves my oracle card decks and wanted her own. We shopped around locally and the decks available were suited for a more adult audience ... so I searched on . We were thrilled to find these! She is 10 (and they would be great for even younger kids). She is enjoying pulling a card daily or looking up the animal if we see one on our mountain adventures. Her only suggestion would be to have more cards in the deck.

this is a great starting deck for children.. very easy to play around with..the pictures are very lovely. the words easy to read... i love them... only problem is everybody wants to buy them off me

This is a great deck for children. I got it to give to my granddaughter, who likes giving me tarot readings (even though she's only 8). The artwork is very good--just right for children (I really like it). Many of the animals are baby animals or young animals. The Beaver card says "Do your chores." The Elephant says, "You can overcome any problem." The Lion - "Ask for what you want." The Ladybug - Notice the little things. The little book is wonderful. After discussing the animal, it has an activity (or activities) for the child to do, i.e. Do a secret favor for one of your friends at school, and when they notice it, don't tell them you did it. I think this is a wonderful deck for any child, and I can't wait to give it to my granddaughter!
